

Ask Public to Aid Plans for Fire Prevention

National fire prevention week begins Sunday, Oct. 9 and continues thru the following Saturday, Oct. 15, and local firemen and village officials ask cooperation of the public in a campaign to eliminate litter and conditions that constitute fire hazards.

Combustible rubbish is always a threat and should not be allowed to accumulate, it was pointed out. It not only is a fire hazard but also an eyesore and breeds disease.

Paper and odds and ends of lumber and paint have a habit of accumulating in basements, sheds and garages, and now is also a good time to check closets and attics where rags and other waste may collect. Spontaneous combustion has been responsible for many fires, it was pointed out.

It is also a good time to have wiring and electrical appliances checked, firemen say. It was pointed out that while defective wiring causes many fires, probably more are caused by inadequate wiring. This is particularly true in older homes and buildings, it was explained. Too many persons, it was said, simply add additional outlets on circuits originally designed to carry only half a dozen lights. The wiring is not adequate to carry the additional loads and so overheats. Too frequently fire results from this overloading, it was said.

Another frequent cause of fire in homes - it was pointed out - is traced to defects in chimneys. And another cause - and a big one - is carelessness. Persons leave rubbish fires unattended, smoke in bed, forget to turn off an electric iron, leave matches in easy reach of children and in many other ways invite fire.

Fire prevention is a year round job, it was pointed out, but the observance of fire prevention week would be a start.

Boy, 12, Shot In Hunting Accident; Is Recovering

A Frankfort boy who was accidentally shot Sunday while hunting is now convalescing at his home. The youngster is Duane Warning, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Warning.

He and two other boys, Glenn Patterson and Larry Nice, had been hunting squirrels on the Nice farm - the former McGlashen farm - southeast of Frankfort, and had sat down along the railroad right-of-way to rest.

Duane was picking up his gun, a .410, when it slipped out of his hands, fell to the ground and was accidentally discharged, the lad explained later. The charge of shot struck him on the right shoulder, scooping out a piece of flesh approximately six inches in length and about two inches wide. There was no damage to the bone structure.

Duane and his two companions ran to the Nice home and from there was brought to the Hedges clinic at Frankfort.

In the meantime, Mr. Warning and Marshal Patterson had been informed of the accident and the two men came to the clinic and on the doctor's order, took Duane to Silver Cross hospital. The boy was in the operating room for an hour and a half. He remained in the hospital until Tuesday when he returned home. It was said that barring complications his recovery should be rapid.

Lincoln-Way Band Smart Looking in New Uniforms

The Lincoln-Way high school band made quite a striking appearance when it marched onto the field at Manhattan between games last Friday night. Decked out in new uniforms, the band entertained the fans with an exhibition of marching drill. Before the start of the game, the colors were brought out the field, and the fans joined the band in presenting the national anthem. Robert C. Taylor is director of the band, and Larry Cullison is the drum major. The new uniforms are black with red and gold trim, and from the black shoes to the red feather plume on the hat, make a very neat and attractive appearance. The band will appear on the field at all remaining home games.

The Lincoln-Way Band Boosters, headed by Wilbur Francis, deserve the credit for obtaining the band uniforms. The Band Parents, a hard working group, have already raised a third of the cost of the uniforms. The community also is to be praised for the fine support it has given the various activities of the group, it was pointed out. The next activity sponsored by the Band Boosters is to be a public dance to be held in the high school gym next Saturday night, Oct. 8, from 9:00 to 12:00 p.m. Tickets may be purchased from any band member or at the door. Band Boosters are asked to bring pie or cake.

More Than 1000 See New Lenox Riding Club Show

More than 1,000 persons turned out to view the second annual gymkhana staged last Sunday by the New Lenox Riding and the Sportsmen clubs.

The name—gymkhana—is translated as play day on horseback and the program Sunday was filled with action and color and incidentally some good riding.

The events were run off on the old ball diamond on the western fringe of New Lenox where there was room to accommodate several hundred cars. All four sides of the exhibition site were filled with cars of early comers. The event drew spectators from Chicago, Kankakee, Aurora and of course from Joliet and the surrounding towns of the area.

An event that drew considerable applause was the drill on horseback by a picked team from the New Lenox club. There were eight riders, under the direction of E. C. Olsen. The team wearing maroon shirts and white hats, the club colors, delighted the spectators with their precision of movements. The show began with a parade led by Daun Weber and James Pearce.

Approximately 50 horses were entered in the various events. Prizes were awarded in 12 events. Erect Plaque In Memory Of Fred A. Francis

A bronze plaque in memory of Fred A. Francis, New Lenox supervisor who died suddenly Oct. 29, 1953, has been put in place on the north wall near the door into the county board chamber in the courthouse annex at Joliet.

It was shortly after his death that the supervisors authorized the placement of this plaque as a tribute to Mr. Francis who had served as a member of the board for many years, the last two as chairman, and whom was held in high esteem.

The plaque which has just been delivered and installed, reads as follows:

"In memory of Fred A. Francis who served as New Lenox supervisor from May, 1925 to October 29, 1953, and was chairman of the county board of supervisors, April, 1951 until October, 1953."

to the News-Bulletin Monday. Mrs. Hubler also states she has an unusual large gourd in her garden. It must be that both of Mrs. Hubler's thumbs are green.

Cracked Silo Down Now

The cracked silo on the Arthur Geuther farm, on U. S. Route 45 at St. Francis road, is no more. The concrete walls have been taken down and the silage salvaged in part and transferred to a silo on the neighboring George Beutel farm.

The picture shown here was taken at the beginning of the dismantling process. After the upper portion of the walls were removed a cable was bound round the lower part to hold the pieces together until the silage could be scooped out with the use of a boom. The silage was packed hard, as one can see. The dark looking stuff above the silo walls is silage.

The silo was 40 feet high, 14 feet in diameter and 31 years old, and was the first one of its type in these parts to crack up. The cracks appeared just after Arthur Eggert, the tenant on the place, had filled the silo.

Neither the silo nor the silage was insured against such a mishap.

State's Offer to Buy County Farm Poses Several Questions

Hold Funeral Services Monday For Judge Adams

Death has claimed one of Will county's prominent public figures.

Fred R. Adams, 71, of Joliet, probate judge for 24 years and one time chairman of the Will county Republican central committee, died last Thursday night at Silver Cross hospital following a long illness.

Judge Adams suffered a stroke about four years ago and as a result was incapacitated most of his last term, which ended in 1954.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 2 at the Blood and Grant funeral home, 112 Richards st., Joliet, with the Rev. Arthur W. Hoffman, pastor emeritus of the Joliet First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was in Woodlawn Memorial cemetery.

First Elected in 1926

Judge Adams was born at Towaunda, Ill., Feb. 1, 1884, but resided at Joliet most of his life. He was graduated from Joliet high school and the Hamilton high school in Chicago. He was admitted to the bar in July 1916 and the next year became assistant to the late Probate Judge Samuel Drew. Previous to that he had been assistant cashier at the Will County National bank for nine years.

He served as assistant to Judge Drew until 1922 when he left to engage in the general practice of law. In 1926 Judge Adams was elected to the office of probate judge. He won the republican nomination in the primary and shortly thereafter was appointed by the late Gov. Len Small to fill out the unexpired term. Adams was elected to the office in November, 1926.

During the Democratic resurgence in the early part of the Roosevelt administration Judge Adams was defeated but was re-elected at the end of that term and held the office since until ill health caused him to refrain from seeking re-election last year.

Was G.O.P. Chairman
He was chairman of the G.O.P. central committee from 1932 thru 1934.

Judge Adams was a former deacon and trustee of the First Presbyterian church and was a member of various organizations including: Matteson lodge, A.F. & A.M., Joliet chapter, R.A.M., Joliet Commandery, Knights Templar, the Scottish Rites bodies of Chicago, and Anson Temple, Springfield, of the Shrine, the Joliet Shrine club, the Elks, the Eagles and Loyal Order of Moose.

Besides his wife, Hattie, Judge Adams is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Henderson, of Libertyville, Mrs. Lois Carlin, and Mrs. Ruth Ferguson, of Joliet, one sister, Mrs. William LaFontaine, also of Joliet, and six grandchildren.

Church Group To Give Play

What is the ring encircling Elizabeth? Whether it be gold, silver, chain or human the cast of the New Lenox Methodist dramatic club is busily forming it in preparation for their new play, "Ring Around Elizabeth."

The three act comedy will be presented at 8 p.m., Oct. 21 and 22 in the Haven school auditorium. Lois Loebe again is lending her professional knowledge to the direction of the play.

"Ring Around Elizabeth", written by Chas. Armstrong, depicts the humorous incidents which occur when a web is woven around Elizabeth. Betty Morrison will portray the leading role of Elizabeth Cherry, the hard-taxed center of an irritating household.

Included in the scheme to rid Elizabeth of her inheritance for their individual benefits is Ralph Cherry, the dull husband to be enacted by Lewis Loebe; Jennifer, who is hysterically in love with a cynical playboy, and played by JoAnne Crisman, and the precocious daughter Mercedes, who will be played by Janet Korsgaard.

Minnie Phillips has been cast as Laurette Carpenter Styles, the selfish old Mother who hoards antiques, and Ronald Crisman will play the role of the fussy father in law, who delights in chasing fires. Jane Gillogly will be the nosy houseguest and Vera Chapman will portray the colorful part of the bossy cook.

Estelle Campbell has been cast as the clustery clubwoman; Gary Walk as the object of Jennifer's affection; Gerald Johnson as Dr. Hollister and James Hammond, the policeman.

Complete Engraving For Haley Park Memorial at Marley

"Haley Park In Memory of Charles F. Haley Elizabeth Haley Robert G. Regan 1954"

This engraving was recently completed on the stone memorial in Haley Park by Olsen Memorials of Joliet. The workmen made several trips to complete the engraving, due to high humidity which fouled up their materials and instruments. The memorial is located in the front center of the park, making the engraving legible from the road.

The park, adjacent to the Marley church, consists of 1.4 acres: 173 feet of frontage and 355 feet in depth. 123 feet of frontage was given to the Marley church by Miss Agnes Haley in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Haley.

Fifty feet of frontage was given by Mrs. Robt. Regan in memory of her husband. The park was dedicated on July 4, 1954, shortly after it was purchased from Mrs. Regan. Several church and community affairs have been held in the park this year.

ORGANIZE FOUNDRY

Pickets in front of the Hunter Brass Foundry, on Wolf road, last Friday morning did not signify that a strike was in progress. The workmen at the foundry—approximately 25—are organizing and are reported to have voted Friday to have the A.F. of L. Foundry Workers union serve as its bargaining agent. Negotiations for a contract between the company and the union are scheduled to begin next week. The plan is in operation.

The Will county board of supervisors is expected to meet soon to decide whether to accept the offer of the Illinois Youth Commission of $192,025 for the purchase of the county farm.

Three committees, the farm, finance and public health, are now at work preparing a summary of the situation and recommendations for presentation to the board. The date for the board meeting, it was said, will be set later.

Several weeks ago William Patton, chairman of the state youth commission, came before the board with a proposal to purchase the county farm property, in Troy township, for use as a diagnostic center for juveniles—boys and girls—that have been referred to the commission for final disposition.

As a result the board had an appraisal made by the Joliet-Will County Real Estate board.

Offers Compromise
Patton was in Joliet Monday of this week to meet with the members of the three committees previously mentioned. The real estate board appraises the value of the farm—160 acres—and the buildings at $183,550.

In the meantime the youth commission had an appraisal made and that figure was $180,500.

When the two figures were announced Patton said to split the difference and made an offer of $182,025.

There are now 60 inmates on the farm. Besides the building which serves as a dormitory and headquarters of the administrative staff, there is a heating plant, barns etc., and a 2 story brick structure which once served as a tuberculosis sanitarium but has not been employed for any purpose since.

Build New Sanitarium?

It has been suggested that if the county board sell the farm that it build a new TB sanitarium to replace the one now in use in Joliet, and use the present sanitarium dormitories as a residence for the indigent persons now housed at the county farm. It would be a convalescent home, so to speak.

The theory back of the county farm law was that persons housed there would work for their keep by performing tasks on the farm. It was pointed out, however, that for many years the people sent to the county farm are of such physical condition that they are unable to work.

It has been proposed that if a new TB sanitarium is built that the county health department make its headquarters there. The department now rents quarters in downtown Joliet at $5,000 a year and if these offices are air-conditioned, as they are expected to be, the rent will be raised to $8,500.

Screen Delinquents

Patton told the committee members that the commission hoped for a favorable decision by the county board and that such a decision would be made soon. He added that the commission would build a dormitory at a cost of $500,000 and would also rehabilitate the former sanitarium at the farm site and use it for classrooms and an examination center. Patton said the commission would like to put the diagnostic center in use by next summer.

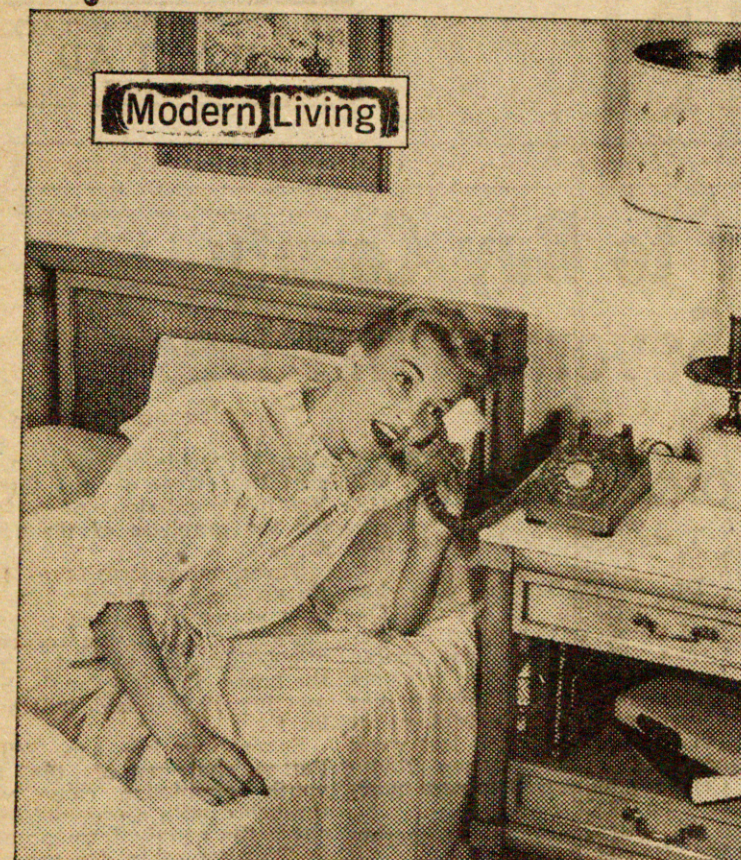

Committee members appeared to be favorably disposed toward the plan. There have been objections, however, on the grounds that the location of the diagnostic center here would result in using Will county as a dumping ground for young criminals.

Urge Stop Light At Rts. 45 & 30

At the last regular meeting of the Frankfort Lions club held Sept. 20, discussion was held on the planting of trees at the village park. They also discussed at length the advisability of securing a proper light at the five corners, route 30 and 45 and where also a hard road continues south into Frankfort.

This is a dangerous corner and many accidents have occurred there, some fatal, and a traffic light is needed, it was pointed out. Especially is this corner dangerous when coming from the south as there is a small rise in the road which is not anticipated by strangers, and coming at a good speed, are not prepared to meet traffic coming from three and four directions.

The Lions club met Sept. 29 with the centennial committee of the village board to discuss the advisability of planting trees at the village park. As it now appears, the planting of those trees will not be accomplished this fall. This was further discussed at the executive board meeting of the Lions club held in the home of its president, Wendell Morrison Tuesday evening.

A coal-fired dryer, developed by Bituminous Coal Research, Inc., for speedy drying of grain crops, came to the rescue of a building contractor by drying out, in 25 days, a four-foot thickness of saturated clay. Use of the dryer prevented a two-month delay in construction of the three-acre warehouse.

Mason Seeks Re-election

To settle all question or doubt about his again being a candidate for re-election Congressman Noah Mason has announced from his office in Washington that he will be a candidate for re-election at the April Primary next year.

Mason is now serving his tenth consecutive term in Congress, that last ten years of which he has been a member of the ways and means committee, the powerful tax-writing committee of the house of representatives.

Congressman Mason majored in the field of economics and taxation at the University of Illinois some 32 years ago; served as a city commissioner at Oglesby for eight years; and for six years was a member of the tax committee of the Illinois state senate. He has had first hand experience, therefore, in the field of local taxes, state taxes, and federal taxes.

Mason's background and experience as well as his standing in congress — ranking number 19 in length of service among the 203 Republicans in the House — makes him a valuable man to represent the fifteenth congressional district of Illinois in Washington, his supporters say.

Registration Opens For Great Books Groups in Area

Registration is now open for Great Books discussion groups in more than 100 locations throughout Chicago and suburbs.

The groups will meet every other week for a two hour discussion of today's problems thru the reading of the works of the greatest writers of all time — books which have left a permanent influence on Western civilization.

Membership is open to all adults in the community — open to any individual who believes that every citizen in a democracy can learn to read and think more effectively and thereby equip himself for better participation in society. There are no formal education requirements. The courses are tuition-free. The first year's reading list includes works by Jefferson, Shakespeare and Tolstoy.

Further information may be obtained from The Great Books Foundation, 37 South Wabash.

There is a Great Books group active at Tinley Park.

Plan Square Dances At Palos Park

A series of square dances is planned by the Palos Promenaders — as the group calls its self — to be held every first and third Wednesday evening from 8 to 10:30 o'clock. The dances are to be staged in the Palos Park village hall, 123rd and 89th avenue.

All persons interested in square dancing are invited to attend. Classes for those desirous of learning how to square dance will be conducted at the same place at the same time but on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Persons who want further information may contact Ray Reeder, Palos Park 452R, or Helen and Willis Stanton, publicity and membership chairmen respectively at Palos Park 540W.

Adult Classes Begin Work

Adult education classes at Lincoln-Way high school began this week in shorthand, office machines, typing, photography, clothing construction, organized recreation and first aid.

Classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday nights and the hours are from 7 to 9 o'clock. Other classes that were offered failed to have enough persons register to meet the minimum requirements.

However, it has been decided to hold registration open until Oct. 18, so if enough persons enroll, some of these other classes will be organized.

Persons interested may contact the school office. Classes partially filled and will be conducted if enough enroll are: agriculture; farm welding; farm machinery maintenance, adjustment and repair; art; woodworking; psychology and practical speech.

The first adult classes this year were held Tuesday night and will meet again tonight. Because of the Wilcox school board association meeting and dinner to be held at Lincoln-Way next Tuesday evening there will be no adult classes that night, it was announced, but thereafter the classes will be held every Tuesday and Thursday night.

Await Kick-off Of Chest Drive

The county-towns division of the 1955 Joliet-Will county Community Chest campaign will "kick off" their drive at a meeting tonight at 6:30 in the Woodruff hotel in Joliet.

Verne E. Cracker, county superintendent of schools, and E. B. Workman, probate clerk, co-chairman of the county towns division for this year's appeal, will handle the meeting. The highlights of the presentation of the chest story is expected to be a series of color slides and dramatic charts that will be used to illustrate the narration and report of chest agency activities.

Township chairmen in this area are co-chairman William Blaha and Ray Westlund for Mokena, Walter Schoen for Frankfort, and Charles Carnahan for New Lenox. The goal for this year's drive is $233,062.

Fall Grain Show Of 4-H Clubs to be Held in Manhattan

The fall grain show for Will County 4-Hers will be held at 8 p. m. Oct. 31 at Manhattan Sportsmen hall. 4-H members enrolled in corn, soybeans, oats and wheat are to bring a one peck sample of grain to be exhibited.

Entomology and soil conservation projects will be also exhibited at that show. Record books that have not been turned in already are to be placed with the exhibit.

Will County 4-H Square Dancers Compete at Pontiac

The 4-H Federation Square Dance Team took to the highways last Thursday night to compete in the Corn Harvest Festival at Pontiac, Illinois. Performing in gay Spanish costumes the Will County 4-H "champions" added a Latin touch to the dancing contest. Members of the dancing team were: Don Wesolowski, Caller; Kathy Ulrich, Eugene Leighty, John Fahs, Carol Petleski, Larry Burnworth, Vicky Baird, Don Hoffman and Lodeen Heeg.

The square dance contest was held as part of the Livingston County Harvest Festival, September 29. Norman Kraef, radio station WGN entertainer, emceed the ceremonies.

Seek Solution For Problems Posed By Hickory Creek

The Hickory creek problem which has been causing trouble for almost half a century was debated again Tuesday night at a mass meeting in the Joliet high school.

Apparently a committee is to be named to press for federal, state, county and Joliet city aid in providing for flood and sanitation controls.

New Lenox has been flooded on numerous occasions as has Joliet and the area in the vicinity of Mokena has experienced like fate as a result of Hickory creek going on a rampage.

Gov. Stratton had been invited to the meeting but was unable to attend. However, the state and the federal government was represented by engineers and members of the state legislature from the district, Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill, Speaker of the House Warren Wood and Representative Francis J. Loughran, pledged their assistance. Hickory creek rises near Tinley Park and is the one stream in Illinois in which the law permits the dumping of raw sewage. Because of the presence of sewage and garbage in Hickory creek waters, public health is endangered when they flood, engineers pointed out.

CROP Schedules Marley Meeting For November 1

A Will county organization meeting of the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) of relief was held in the Farm bureau building in Joliet, James Tilsy, Mokena, chairman of CROP, presided.

A number of township chairmen were present and the Rev. Mr. Risser of Oswego who is CROP organization leader for several counties showed a movie depicting the CROP program.

Plans were made for two local meetings; one to be held in the Marley Community church Monday evening, November 7 and the other to be held in the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church at North Peotone on Tuesday evening Nov. 8. CROP is a part of the Church World service organization and Illinois ranked third in the nation last year of gifts made to CROP.

Link With Mokena's Past Goes Under Wrecker's Hammer

One of Mokena's links with the past is now being dismantled. A wooden structure formerly owned by Henry Stollwagen and used as a livery and boarding stable, is being torn down.

The present owner of the property, Alfred Hatch, has no immediate plans for use of the site but indicated that he may sell it.

The old livery barn which is said to be more than 50 years old, fronts on First street, about half a block east of Wolf rd. The building is being wrecked by Roy Erdmann, for the salvage.

Braves Blank Carl Sandburg Eleven, 21-0

SOUTHWEST SUBURBAN CONFERENCE RESULTS:
Bremen 21, Sandburg 0
Lincoln-Way 13, Ev. Park 7
Oak Lawn 13, Reavis 12
With two touchdowns in the second period, the Bremen high school football team rolled over the Carl Sandburg Eagles 21-0 in a Southwest Suburban Conference tilt at Orland Park Friday, Sept. 30.

Thrice in the opening quarter the Braves drove deep into Sandburg territory, but each time the Eagle forward wall held.
Early in the second stanza, Rich Hopman, Bremen speedster, leaped high in the air to spear Banicki's pass on the Eagle 25. Banicki then scampered 25 yards for the Braves' first score. Counting the point after touchdown was Frank Wargalek.
Minutes later Bill Lindsay climaxed a Bremen drive by plunging thru the two yard line, and on the next play tallied the extra point.
The half ended with Bremen leading 14-0 and only five yards from its opponents goal line.
Midway thru the third period George Stelmach, displaying some fine broken field running, carried the ball 25 yards to the Eagle 10. Hopman then darted thru the Sandburg defense to count the Braves' final TD. Banicki counted the extra point to give Bremen a 21-0 margin.
In the final quarter, Carl Sandburg monopolized offensive play and drove all the way to the Bremen four-yard line where the Braves' forward wall stopped the Eagles cold.

L-W Defeats Evergreens, 13-7 In Final Minute
Last Friday night Lincoln-Way defeated Evergreen Park 13-7 in a Frank Merriwell finish. With a combination of great determination and spirit to win their first victory of the season.
The first touchdown came in the second quarter with the Knights in possession of the ball on Evergreen's 28 yard line. Morris Wade caught a pass in the end zone from Ron Hughes for Lincoln-Way's first touch down. The extra point was missed.
In the fourth quarter Evergreen Park bounced back, as Joe Raymond ran five yards around the right end for the Mustangs only touch down. Yost plunged across for the extra point, leaving the Knights trailing 7-6 midway in the last quarter.
Lincoln-Way received the kickoff but lost the ball on downs near the midway stripe. On the first play Lincoln-Way's hard hitting line caused the Mus-

Your Handy Helpful Hardware Man suggests:
HOW TO PAINT EXTERIOR CONCRETE
A lot of homeowners hesitate to take on the job of painting exterior brick or concrete. But this big, coarse job of painting can be made fairly easy by the use of a roof brush or a clean, long-handled floor brush. A large tub can serve as the paint container. Cement paint, which applies a thin layer of cement and pigment, can be used if the surface has never been painted before. But it can't be used over another coat of paint. In this case, use a good grade of exterior rubber-base paint.

ALPINE

Mrs. E. Mrosek
Orland 2841-R

The Maue PTA was well represented at the regular meeting of the Southwestern Area council, District 19, held Sept. 27 at the Harding school. Present were: Mrs. Norman Strassenburg, Maue PTA president; Mrs. Roy Walker, 1st vice president;

Mrs. Stanley Koveikis, 2nd vice president; and Mrs. Raymond Krierem, treasurer.

A big crowd of young people were on hand to enjoy the first square dance of the season at Maue school Friday evening, Sept. 30. Dancing was under the guidance of Robert Laing of Orland Park and sponsored by the Maue PTA. It is hoped that more adults will attend. Time has been set aside for adult dancing and instruction and anyone wishing to learn will find Mr. Laing a willing and able teacher.

Ben Sylla, assistant superintendent of schools, district 7, will be guest of honor at the ice cream social, sponsored by the Maue PTA to be held at Maue school, Wednesday evening, Oct. 12. The ice cream social has become an annual event and is held for the purpose of raising money so the square dances can continue.

Den 5 of pack 218, started their first project at the regular Thursday meeting held in the home of den mother, Mrs. John Cruise. The project is to make Halloween decorations for their Oct. 21 meeting. The den was glad to welcome a new member, James (Terry), Donovan, which brings the membership to a total of seven boys.

The meeting lasted two hours instead of the usual one because there was much business to discuss and the boys helped cub scout, Bill Lohmann, celebrate his tenth birthday. Mrs. Lohmann served cup cakes, each bearing a candle, and punch. The den sang "Happy Birthday to Bill" and then he blew out the candles. Following refreshments, games were enjoyed.

The Maue school board held a regular meeting at the school Tuesday evening. Routine business was taken care of and current school problems discussed. A party honoring Norma Albert, James Semetis, Donald Kohl and their birthdays which were all in September, were enjoyed by Maue school children at the school Friday afternoon. Ice cream and cake were served and games were played.

It has been decided that one afternoon a month would be set aside for the observance of the birthdays in each month.

Bicycle tests were given Maue school children Friday. Those who passed were given a membership in the bicycle club.

Because of a teacher's meeting, Maue school was dismissed early Thursday afternoon.

The Orland Boys 4-H club will hold their annual achievement meeting, Friday evening, Oct. 14, at Maue school.

Premium moneys will be given out and there will be an election of officers. A pleasant evening is being planned and it is hoped all parents will attend.

Mrs. Edward Mrosek was hostess for a demonstration party in her home Friday evening. Games were enjoyed and following the demonstration, refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Felsch, Sandra and Patsy spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Splitter, in Friendship, Wis.

An orphaned baby rabbit caused several Alpine housewives to upset toy chests in search of doll bottles and nipples Thursday. Mrs. Roy Walker, who had rescued the rabbit from her dog, sent out an S.O.S. for help when she found she lacked the proper facilities to feed the tiny creature. A bottle and nipple was located and at last report the infant was doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mrosek, Carla and Edward were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Mrosek, Sr. and his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Mrosek, Jr. of Chicago, at a dinner party honoring Carla and her thirteenth birthday, Friday evening. Carla received many lovely gifts and a good time was had by all.

Mrs. Harry Hohenschell of Joliet, piano teacher who has many students in the Alpine district was back Thursday following the kind of vacation many dream about but seldom take. The Hohenschells toured the Western coastal states, both north and south. They stopped at the major parks and other points of interest along the way. Since the Hohenschells are a musical family they particularly enjoyed stopping at places where well known orchestras and other entertainers were playing. "Believe it or not," stated Mrs. Hohenschell, although we neither drink or gamble, we had the most fun at Los Vegas." At Los Vegas they saw many of the top performers in the entertainment world. The biggest thrill of the trip came about when Mr. Hohenschell caught a 28-pound salmon in the Sacramento river near Puba city, California. A pound salmon is usually considered large. The salmon was frozen and sent back to Joliet to be shared with friends.

It is said that the season in this part of the country is too short for the successful growing of large watermelons, but three large ripened melons still attached to vines in the back yard of the Henry Felschs is proof that it can be done. The funny part of it is the melons were as much of a surprise to the Felschs as to any one else. Last spring the rind and seeds of a watermelon were dumped on an ash pile and forgotten. It wasn't until August that the watermelon vines were discovered growing from the ash pile. Four large watermelons grew to full maturity. One has been eaten and was found to be as sweet and juicy as any other melon.

Charles Bezdek was completely surprised when about fifty friends and relatives arrived Saturday night to take party in a party planned by his wife in observance of his birthday which was Oct. 3. Everyone had a wonderful time.

The Federalists and the Republicans were the first two major political parties.

Jesus Is Real
Lesson for October 9, 1955

IT IS hard to say what is the most important doctrine of the Christian religion. Probably you would get more votes for the doctrine we call the Incarnation than for any other; because so many other doctrines hinge on this one. If you do not believe in the Incarnation you haven't much left of the Atonement, and (if you really face it) you have lost what is most valuable in your doctrine of God. Be that as it may, if you asked for a vote among people who have given this thought, as to what is the most distinctive Christian doctrine, you

Dr. Foreman would have a practically unanimous answer: The Incarnation. This is expressed in various ways both in the Bible and in Christian theology. About the simplest way of putting it in Bible language is that "God was in Christ" (II Corinthians 5:19). The simplest way of putting it in theological language may be that Christ was both human and divine.

Jesus Was a Real Person

You wouldn't think it necessary to hammer on the point that Jesus was a real person, that is to say that he really was, and didn't just seem to be, a child and a boy and a grown man. Yet the church has often had to call a halt to men and movements that explained away the real humanity of Jesus till there was really nothing left of it. The great church council held at Chalcedon (the Evanston of that era) in 451 A.D. found it necessary to say—in their own way of course—that Christ is as much divine as God is divine, and as much human as you and I are human. For some strange reason, however, the reality of Jesus as a human person is forgotten or denied by men. Again and again we have to be brought up with a start by the gospel story, the story of a real man. Like all real men, Jesus grew from a real boy. The modern interest in childhood and the realization that "the child is father of the man."

The Child Grew
Legends, tales without foundation, have made the boy Jesus into a smaller-sized adult. According to some of these legends, when Jesus went to school, the very first day, he not only knew the alphabet already but he delivered a philosophical discourse that astonished the teacher. Luke does not give us any such picture of an already-grown mind in a tiny body. He gives us a glimpse of a real child really growing. At first he grew without trying, of course, as every one does. What he ate and drank made him taller and stronger. He learned the Aramaic language, spoken in his village and in his family, just as children learn their mother-tongue everywhere in the world, just by hearing it and trying to speak it, till it becomes as natural as breathing. His mind grew by what was put into it, because it was a really human mind. Dolls are all the same no matter what goes on around them; human beings on the contrary grow or shrink, depending on their surroundings. It is not too much to say that if (for instance) Jesus' mother Mary had been a different kind of person, he would have been different too. To think otherwise is to fancy Jesus a kind of doll.

The Boy Moved Forward
As has been often noted, Luke uses a different word for Jesus after his twelfth year. Before that, he "grew"—the same word used for flowers and buildings, elsewhere in the Bible. After that, he "increased"—and the word always implies will, effort. Up to a certain age a child can't help growing; he doesn't even give it a thought. But after a certain age, not the same in every one to be sure, if a person grows he has to put his mind on it; and he can choose the direction in which he will grow. Jesus could choose his friends; he could do what he would with his spare time. He grew by his work in the carpenter shop, we may be certain; but what about the hours when he was not working? When Jesus was fully grown, we know how familiar he was with the Scriptures. We know how well he understood people. Could he have achieved any of this without trying, without growing?

Only the Rich Can Afford Poor Cows

High-producing cows are the only kind a dairyman can afford to own.

G. W. Harnestad, extension dairy specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, says that high-producing cows usually produce milk at lower cost and bring higher net returns than their lower producing sisters. A study of DHIA records shows that it costs more to feed high-producing cows, but the value of product is so much higher that it more than offsets the higher feed costs.

A group of herds averaging 7,880 pounds of milk per cow had an average feed cost of $145 per cow. A second group of herds that averaged 13,290 pounds of milk had an average feed cost of $189 per cow.

On the other hand, the net return for the low-producing herds was $143, while those producing at a higher level returned $349 per cow, or almost 2½ times as much. This study shows that it is the high-producing cow that makes the profit for the dairyman.

Results of another study of DHIA records made several years ago—but still true today—show that it takes four cows each producing 200 pounds of butterfat or two cows each producing 300 pounds to equal the returns over feed cost of one cow producing 500 pounds of butterfat in one year.

The largest herds do not always make the highest net returns. Sometimes it is profitable to have an empty stall. It certainly is if you have only a low producer to put into it.

Dairymen today are in a very bad cost-price squeeze. The best thing the individual dairyman can do to overcome this situation is to keep only high-producing cows. The greatest single factor in profitable dairying is the level of production of the cows.

Claim Aureomycin Increases Egg Production and Hatchability

Results of experiments in which Aureomycin (chemical name chlortetracycline) was fed continuously at high levels to laying hens have shown that the antibiotic increases egg production as much as 40 per cent and improves hatchability by 18 per cent. In other tests, conducted under actual poultry-raising conditions, extra returns per 1,000 birds on a diet containing Aureomycin were more than $1,000.

On a commercial farm at Sandy, Utah, two groups of White Leghorn breeders were housed in separate pens under identical conditions. One group was fed a mash and grain diet. The other group received exactly the same diet plus Aureomycin at a level of 100 grams per ton of feed.

Production of the group of hens which received the Aureomycin was 60 per cent compared with 54 per cent for the control group. The antibiotic-supplemented birds produced 580 cases of eggs per thousand hens housed while the controls produced only 498 cases. The group fed Aureomycin yielded an extra return of $501 per thousand birds.

Make Different Tests

In another test conducted under the same conditions, hens fed Aureomycin showed an average production of 69 per cent and produced 601 cases of eggs per 1,000 hens housed. The control group's production was 58 per cent and eggs produced totaled 481 cases. Extra return per 1,000 birds receiving Aureomycin in the diet was $1,233.

In another test program conducted at Red Hen Farm, Gainesville, Ga., Vantress breeders were observed under adverse weather conditions. The 11-month field trial spanned a spell of damp, cold spring weather and a hot, dry fall.

The breeder hens were housed identically but in two separate groups. One was fed a mash and grain diet. The other group received the same diet but with the addition of Aureomycin, 100 grams per ton of ration.

Egg production of the control group was 44 per cent and that of the birds fed Aureomycin was 48 per cent. The controls produced only 322 cases of eggs per thousand hens housed as compared with 349 cases in the group fed Aureomycin. Hatchability for the first group was 79 per cent with a total of 91,570 chicks produced per thousand hens. For the breeders receiving Aureomycin, hatchability was 83 per cent with 104,650 chicks produced. On the basis of total feed costs including the Aureomycin, the antibiotic-fed group showed an extra return of $1,829 per thousand and birds.

Report Findings

At Iowa State college, Dr. Stanley Balloun conducted an experiment with three test groups of New Hampshire pullets. They were confined in wire floor cages and for four months were fed an adequate diet. During this period, Dr. Balloun not-

Farm Fire Hazards Can Be Reduced

Every 24 hours, fire strikes 100 farm families, leaving nine persons dead and destroying more than $300,000 worth of property.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters and other agencies annually publish a list of suggestions during Fire Prevention Week (this year, October 9 to October 15) designed to help eliminate fire hazards.

One of the foremost of these is a warning to keep the problem of fire safety in mind when new construction is being planned.

To reduce the menace of property loss by fire, many farmers are turning to steel buildings, such as the five Quonsets shown in the above photograph. The Quonsets recently replaced those on the farm of O. W. Bridgeman of Plain City, O., whose 340 acre farm had been razed by fire, destroying all buildings except the house and a shed.

Property loss figures reflect only a portion of the total cost of farm fires however, as Bridgeman would readily testify. Thousands of tons of vitally needed food and meat are wasted, irreplaceable natural resources are destroyed and often people perish.

Bridgeman was pleased with the speed with which his farm was back in operation. Four days after the fire, he told the area Quonset dealer, Paul V. Reed, to build five Quonsets on his farm. Only 45 days after concrete was poured for the floor, the Quonsets were up and Bridgeman was back in business.

Bridgeman is happy with the buildings. He says, "My Quonset farmstead gives me much greater fire safety, and that's mighty important to me after losing so much in one fire."

ed a sharp drop in egg production from 61 per cent to 38 per cent for one group and from 50 per cent to 29 per cent for the others.

Aureomycin was then added, at the rate of 50 milligrams per pound, to the feed of the two lowest producing groups. Over the next two months, average egg production increased almost 40 per cent. Production remained low in the group which received no Aureomycin.

At Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Gonzales, Texas, addition of Aureomycin to the diet was also followed by sharp increases in production as well as hatchability. In this trial, 6,000 pullets were divided into four lots. Conditions of housing and feeding were identical. At six months of age, the birds averaged 50 per cent production and 68 per cent hatchability. After these levels had been maintained for three months, production dropped to 37 per cent and hatchability to 50 per cent. Careful clinical inspection showed no evidence of disease. "It appeared that the lowered performance might be caused by morbidity or a subclinical diseased condition," Mr. Camp, superintendent of the station, commented.

At this point, Aureomycin at the level of 200 grams per ton of feed was added to the diet of half the birds. Within 16 days these hens returned to 50 per cent production and 68 per cent hatchability.

"This tests suggests that sub-clinical disease may exist in layer or breeder flocks without showing visible symptoms of the disease," Mr. Camp said. "Yet, at the same time there may be decreased egg production and hatchability, high level antibiotic feeding may aid in correcting this condition."

Illinois Bankers Receive Award For Service To Farmers

Banks of Illinois were honored this morning for their outstanding service to the state's farmers when the Illinois Bankers Association was presented with the 1000-point rating award of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association. The award was presented in Chicago at the 81st annual convention of the American Bankers Association.

The 1000-point rating award is presented each year to the state bankers associations of those states whose banks have been of notable service to agriculture during the preceding year. This is the 15th consecutive year that the Illinois Bankers Association has received the award. The IBA score was 1575. Points toward the award are given by the ABA for such activities as promotion of soil conservation and land management, sponsorship of short course scholarships for young farmers, support of farm youth groups, and other programs to strengthen banker-farmer relationships.

Every state now has an active bank agricultural program. The work is planned and directed by state agricultural committees and implemented by some 3,000 county key bankers. Chairman of the Illinois Bankers Association committee on agriculture last year was Arthur Werre, Jr. of Steelville. Chairman for 1955-56 is Douglas F. Graves of Chicago. Among the key agriculture bankers for 1954-1955 in Illinois were: George Gee, Orland Park; and William Norton, Joliet.

Demand for higher-grade coal has resulted in the construction and operation of the first privately owned coal washing plant in Australia and plans are being laid for further expansion of such activities.

Mission To Observe 47th Anniversary In November

A report of the Peter McCarthy Morning Star mission for September shows 32 conversions, 192 free meals served, 84 persons furnished with clothing without charge and nine families given relief. Fifty three persons stranded in Will county were provided with bus tickets to move them to their destinations. Forty seven dozens of doughnuts were distributed among youngsters who called at the mission in the afternoons.

On the mission's calendar October is the 12th month of the 47th year the institution has been in existence. The 47th anniversary will be observed next month.

Moral Values A Must for Teen-agers

By Brig. Gen. Terence Finnegan, United States Air Force
Paulist Feature Service

On a recent train trip I sat among a large group of teen-age school kids on holiday leave. They came from a well-known, expensive school. All of them were reading. But the reading matter was hardly likely to add to their cultural or moral training. It consisted of all the crime, confession, sex, and horror comic magazines that the train butcher could supply.

Those youngsters are the youth of today, youth that are faced all too frequently with careless parents a warped code of morality, and a pagan chant rivaling days of ancient Rome, "live by the flesh, know no God, and be willing to prostitute anyone and anything so long as self is completely satisfied."

THESE youth will be our country tomorrow. They are the parents of another year. From them must come the defenders of our democracy.

Much of the waywardness of our youth is due to the indecent literature that is flaunted before them, the degrading movies that are shown for their benefit. These are frequently the downfall of our youth and they are produced by adults, dedicated to the worship of the almighty dollar.

Lack Discipline

I have been identified with thousands of sterling young gentlemen in the service. I believe that our young people are among the finest. I also believe and sadly admit that they all too frequently lack discipline and religion.

Progressive education has taken its toll. The child is allowed to do as he pleases lest he suffer some inhibition in the future. Everyone thrills at the boys of West Point or Annapolis passing by in perfect formation, at the youth of the Air Force flying jet planes wing to wing. Nowhere is discipline more severe than in our service academies. These schools have produced graduates that are the pride of our nation.

But stop and think how many of our youngsters are raised in homes where they have never been introduced to Almighty God. Human authority stems and flows from divine authority. How can we expect a boy who knows not God to respect property of another or to hold sacred the person of a young girl whom he is dating.

Juvenile delinquency begins when a family fails to transmit to their children a set of moral values. This set of values must include a religious training. To omit it is to curse your children for life.

Movement of coal on the Great Lakes is big business. The S.S. Ernest T. Weir, for instance, carries 13,700 tons of coal at a time, a tonnage equal to the work of more than 1,500 miners for one day, since the average daily production of miners in the United States is now nine tons per day.

Capitol Report

There are days of a high divorce rate.

Some statistics show that one marriage in three will end up on the rocks. This is serious and sociologists point out that, since our society is based on the family unit, this seeming decay in the strength of the family is a danger to our country.

For years a Chicago Circuit Court Judge has been working on ways and means of lowering the divorce rate. Sitting in judgment on thousands of divorce cases convinced Judge Julius H. Miner that there would be fewer divorces if the law provided for a "cooling off" period before final divorce papers were filed.

The judge felt that once a suit for divorce was filed, with its charges and accusations, the chances for reconciliation become dim because of a very human resentment aroused by such charges.

In 1953 Judge Miner supported a bill in the General Assembly to require such a "cooling off" period. It passed by a good majority in both houses and was signed into law by the governor.

Last year this law was declared unconstitutional by the state Supreme Court. The court held that requiring a person to delay filing for a divorce denied that person his right of due process of law.

In spite of this, Judge Miner was not discouraged. He came back to Springfield during the last session and offered another "cooling off" bill that he hoped would accomplish the same purpose and still stay within the bounds of the state and federal constitutions.

Again the bill was passed. Again it was signed into law. It provided that in divorce and separate maintenance cases a suit could not be filed, except where emergency was shown, until sixty days after filing of a "praecipe for summons." This "praecipe for summons" would start the divorce action but would not contain any details or charges.

Last Wednesday the constitutionality of this law was challenged again. The suit that claims the law is unconstitutional says that it discriminates against persons seeking divorces, denies the right of immediate trial and denies due process of law.

If this law is thrown out again we will never know if the judge's plan to "cool off" both the plaintiff and the defendant would reduce the divorce rate in Illinois. In any event, passing laws on such delicate human relationships is extremely difficult.

Marriage and divorce laws are established by the state to regulate the contract of marriage. Judge Miner would be the first to agree that no law could ever be written that would control the spiritual side of marriage.

If delay periods are the proper approach to this question perhaps it might be a better idea to consider the idea of a delay before people get married. This would probably be unconstitutional too, but it might get closer to the cause for our high divorce rate.

Chemical companies are becoming greater consumers of coal every day. In one West Virginia plant, operated by Union Carbide and Chemicals Corporation, by-product ovens use 1800 tons a day; 1800 tons are used to generate steam; and another 650 tons used in production of electric power. Total annual consumption of coal, 1,500,000 tons.

New Patio Dessert ... Simple and So Good!

Apple Sauce Buffet

COME ONE, COME ALL and help yourselves to this dessert! Apple Sauce Buffet is so simple, it belongs in the "why didn't someone think of this before" category. And it's so good tasting, everyone will enjoy it.

Just fill a big deep bowl to the brim with your favorite brand of ready-to-serve apple sauce, well chilled. Around it set smaller bowls each containing a different topping. Guests help themselves and have fun selecting the various delicious toppings for the sauce. You'll find they will combine one, two or three toppings and then come back for second helpings to taste the others.

The toppings suggested here are coconut, peanuts, whipped cream and crumbled peppermint candies. You might offer raisins, candied chopped ginger, crunched peanut brittle, marshmallow cream, maraschino cherries, mixed citron fruits, or slivered almonds. The canned apple sauce with its just-right consistency and lively tang takes on new glory with toppings like these.

8 cups canned apple sauce, chilled	1 cup shredded coconut
½ pint heavy cream, whipped	1 cup salted peanuts
	1 cup crushed peppermint

Serve apple sauce in large bowl. Put whipped cream, coconut, peanuts and crushed peppermint candy in small bowls. Place small bowls around large bowl of apple sauce. Let your guests fix their own combination of apple sauce. Yields 8-10 servings.

Hot Weather Speeds Ripening Of Corn, Beans

Continued extremely hot weather in mid-September has ripened corn and beans very rapidly. Several days of 90 degree temperatures with good breezes dropped moisture percentages in corn and soy beans quite rapidly. Very little moisture fell in the corn belt states until around Sept. 20, when scattered showers spread from Nebraska eastward affecting a good many sections. This rain was too late to affect corn yields at all.

Both corn picking and bean combining are well ahead of normal. Practically all beans will be combined by Sept. 30 and much corn harvested. Soybeans will come more nearly being a normal crop that corn as they can stand drouth better. The big soybean producing region in central Illinois in the Tuscola, Decatur, and Champaign area report yields of 26 to 27 bushels on large acreages with some fields making 40 bushels. Other areas will not be so fortunate, but a big national acreage insures a big crop.

Rainfall Deficient

Nearly all areas suffered from a considerable deficiency of August rainfall. This lack of moisture shortened corn kernels and corn ears and was particularly hard on late planted and late maturing corn. The western half of the Corn Belt will have quite disappointing yields. Midwestern agriculture is again the position of needing heavy fall rains to build up a supply of subsoil moisture in most areas.

The second brood of corn borers seems to be quite heavy in northern Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. This generation has a liking for eating on ear shanks, causing considerable ear dropping, especially in fall winds and storms. Farmers are advised to pick as early as possible to avoid ear dropping due to the second brood of borers, and stalk breakage due to the interior tunneling of the first brood.

Rising consumption of coal by electric utilities will climb still higher in the next two decades, according to a recent forecast which predicted 1965 tonnage at twice the present annual volume of 118.4 million tons; and predicted 1975 tonnage at three to five times the present rate.

Republicans Plan Campaign School

Morton H. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Illinois Republican state central committee today announced the appointment of a committeemen which will plan and conduct a Republican campaign school for party leaders of the state later this year.

Hollingsworth said that the committee will have its initial meeting Wednesday, Sept. 28, at the Leland Hotel, Springfield, to begin laying plans for information sessions with Illinois party leaders to stimulate party strength at the precinct level.

The Illinois program, Hollingsworth stated, will be part of a national program which was developed at a Campaign School of Republican State Chairmen from throughout the country which was held recently in Washington, D.C.

Appalachian Electric Power Company, operating in southern West Virginia and Virginia, burns about 3.5 million tons of coal a year, or enough to make a freight train 464 miles long, or from Huntington, W. Va., to St. Louis, Mo.

An Old Church

By John W. Allen
Southern Illinois University

The names of three French Settlements remain prominent in the early history of Southern Illinois. These are Kaskaskia, the Fort de Chartres-Prairie du Rocher settlement, and the village of Cahokia.

Kaskaskia, once the metropolis of the Mississippi Valley, completely vanished into that river many decades ago. A few ruins are left to mark the site of the one-time magnificent Fort de Chartres. To the observant person, nearby Prairie du Rocher yields glimpses of the time when it was a center of French culture in America. Cahokia, completing the trio, still has its cherished reminders of the past.

A place of particular interest and one that well serves to link the present with earlier days, is the quaint church of Walnut logs. In addition to the curiosity that its appearance naturally arouses, the inquiring person will shortly find that a long and interesting story centers about the old building. The age of the structure alone makes it interesting to many. The present building erected and dedicated in 1799, an even century after Father Cosme had set up the mission post that preceded it, is among the very oldest, if not the oldest church building in the Mississippi Valley.

This log church does not follow the usual pattern of such buildings. Instead of the logs laid horizontally, practically the universal custom except among the French, they are arranged vertically.

The ends of these vertical logs are mortised into other hewed logs lying along the bottom and top of the wall. All logs are hewed both outside and inside to make them smooth. The edges of the logs have wide grooves about two inches deep in order to retain the mortar and stones used to chink and daub the openings between them. The corners of the buildings are sturdily braced. All of the logs of the walls are leaned inward about eight inches. The building has a restrained and rugged appearance.

The floor slopes gently, about six inches, from the door-way to the altar. There is no ceiling. The graceful and well proportioned trusses that support the roof are of hewed timber. Bronze plaques and printed legends highlight some of the church's history. Emblems used in the worship service of this church and in the earlier church and mission that preceded it are distributed about the room. The old pews are gone as are the charcoal foot warmers. Candles flicker at the altar.

In the dim light and quietness it is not difficult to conjure up scenes of the earlier years. Scenes peopled with a varied group that included stolid blanketed Indians, French settlers with their kapots and blue handkerchiefs, Indian traders, courier du bois, explorers, the local French gentry and robed priest of various orders ministering to the local citizens and Indian tribes of the area.

In the 256 years since the establishment of the mission that is now the Parish of the Holy Family, this old church and its predecessor at about the same spot, have seen a motley crowd pass in a varied procession.

The early burying ground with only a few markers remaining lies behind the church. An appropriate memorial stands near the center of this spot. A bronze plaque on the memorial says, "Ancient burial grounds of the Holy Family church of Cahokia. Here were interred from the earliest days of the settlement to about 1840 the departed of this parish and here they lie in peace." In 1839 a new burial ground was selected. This is the oldest marked burial ground for white people in Illinois.

At one time some 2000 Indians lived in the vicinity of the mission. Groups were often encamped on the plot of open ground in front of the church. It was also on this same plot that George Rogers Clark conferred with various Indian tribes in an effort to have them become friends and allies of the American colonists.

On the open plot of ground in front of the church, services were held on May 14, 1949 to commemorate the founding of the Mission just 250 years before that date. Mass was celebrated by Cardinal Stritch of Chicago.

Only on special occasions are services conducted in the old log church. From the stone steps in front of the present church and its predecessor, proclamations, announcements, edicts, and sales were made, and public discussions were held in accordance with French practices.

A few years ago, about 1950, a thorough restoration of the old building was made. The siding that covered the logs for some 50 years ago was removed. Needed repairs were made. The wood was thoroughly treated to ward off decay as much as possible. In fact, everything known was done to have the building stand for another century and a half or more.

This old church may be considered as a kind of national memorial. The roster of devout men who have served it is a long one. Those who should receive the most credit for its restoration are: Father Joseph Mueller, Parish Priest; Joseph Desloge of St. Louis; Guy Stady, Architect; and the Most Reverend Albert R. Zurovster, Bishop of Belleville.

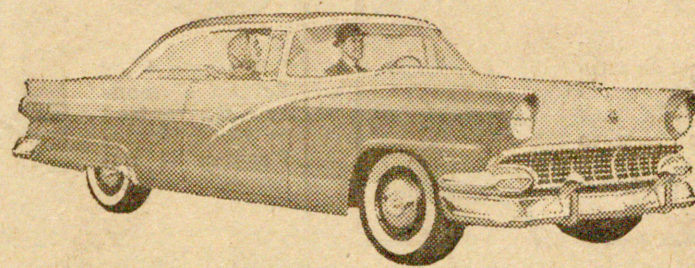

Anyone interested in the early history of Southern Illinois can well afford to pause as he drives on Route 3, a few miles south of East St. Louis and visit this historic church.

When driving long distances on your vacation, remember to check your tires frequently. Inflate your tires before starting on a trip since then your tires are still cold. The Chicago Motor club says increased friction will heat the tires during a long trip and cause the pressure to expand. Never release this extra pressure since it will not harm your tires and letting air out will result in under-inflated

U. of I. to Hold Feeder Calf Sale

Oct. 6 and 7 are two big days for southern Illinois farmers who feed cattle. Those are the dates of the big feeder calf sale at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs experiment station.

The 1955 sale will be the largest ever held in that area, reports Clarence Allbritten, chairman of the Egyptian Livestock association, which is helping to sponsor the event. On Oct. 6, 1,000 calves will be sold, and the next day 800 yearling feeders will be auctioned off.

The Dixon Springs station is located 13 miles northeast of Vienna, Ill.

Livestock specialists from the University will sort all the consigned cattle into uniform lots according to size, sex and quality.

Before the sale the livestock association will screen the farms that produced the cattle. Only cattle that meet the association's standards will be accepted for sale. They must be the type farmers like to have in their feedlots.

Herefords make up 80 percent of the cattle consigned, Angus 18 percent and Shorthorn 2 percent. Five hundred feeders were sold in 1950 and 1,209 in 1954.

Korean Vets Can Reinstate Term Insurance Policies

Willard A. Manning, administrator of the Illinois Veterans' commission, today announced that under the provisions of Public Law 194, 84th Congress, Korean Veterans who lost their World War I or World War II GI term insurance because their policies expired within 120 days after their discharge may now apply for replacement of this insurance.

Under the new law, veterans whose GI term policies expired after April 25, 1951, either while they are in active service, or within 120 days after their discharge, may replace such insurance within 120 days after discharge, or by November 26, 1955, whichever is later. To qualify veterans must file application, meet good health requirements, and pay the premium at their attained age.

Previously, only those GI term policies that expired while the policyholders were in active service after April 25, 1951, could be replaced within 120 days after discharge. No provision was made for the replacement of term policies that expired within the 120 day period after discharge. The new law adds the latter period for replacement.

The new law also grants another opportunity for replacement to those veterans whose term policies expired while they were in active service after April 25, 1951, but who failed to apply for replacement within 120 days after discharge. Those veterans now have until Nov. 26, 1955, in which to apply.

Veterans who feel they may be eligible to re-instate their insurance under the provisions of this law, should visit their nearest Illinois veterans' com-
